NO more bullshit sticky's. No more helicopter BS. No more bullshit cartoons. For the next 15 days the only thing that should be stickied is organizing caravans to DC.

I think the bullshit cartoon stickies are meant for moral. I agree it shouldn't be all stickied cartoons but the occasional is not too bad. I dont want to look at 15 days worth of LETS GO TO DC stickies. I fucking get it. DC here we come. Now leave our fucking Pepes alone! Helicopters??? Yes theyre played out. But I have seen some very creative ones lately. And those are cool to be stickied for a little bit.

The problem with this, was the r/TD thrived because the constant memes from r/TD were diluted by top level posts from other subreddits that people subscribed to, so people's feed only got the occasional memes

This is not true on TDW.

All you getting is a front page filled entirely of memes and clickbait posts.

Almost all TD users would view the subreddit directly and not a customized homepage, because the rest of Reddit is filled with cucks.

TD isn't changing. Memes will never stop being stickied. All resistance to memes is futile. Meme magic shall overcome. Shadilov

1 The problem isn't the cartoons, the problem is that nothing to do with organization is ever stickied. The mods are still of the mindset that this place is for entertainment, it hasn't occurred to them that they might have a much more important roll.

-10 At most times, at almost all the time, over half of all stickies are memes and Over half of all front page are memes.

I kept track. You can check this out yourself. This has been true for weeks and I've joined after nov 3rd

This is literally making trump supporters look like 12 year old conspiracy theorists.

People need to email mods to get this to stop.

▼ Do you think the majority of current visitors coming to this site are coming for the memes?

The major spike after Election Day isn't from other 12 years old looking to upvote memes.

They are from normal people looking for information, to organize, keep up to date on news, etc.

They are here because an election was stolen, and this is the place where they can get the most up to date news even if they have to sort through a massive pile of worthless memes.

They/We don't have a choice.

You may not care, but you should

Because they are the ones doing the actual work. They are the ones going out and protesting and organizing, not staying in thier basement creating and upvoting memes all day.

“ It takes one millisecond to scroll through my comments to see this. Your argument is bad, stop.

See, your post would be a lot more believable, if you didn't add stuff like this to your post.

Do you think grown people or normal people in reality talk like this?

Let me help you understand using a actual meme. This is the equivalent of the meme of someone saying “I did X and everyone clapped”

Everyone knows this is false. The only ones who don't know this is false are the kids who say it and kids who believe it.

When people say comments like “Your argument is bad, stop.”, normal people know that it's false, because the only people who say this stuff are kids ignorant of reality, or people living in thier parents basement, also ignorant of reality.

But this is a perfect example of what is a happening on the front page where,

Just like how the statement “Your argument is bad, stop.” discredited your entire post and made you look like a 12 year old.

The constant memes, where over half of all stickies and front page posts are memes are discrediting everything informational and making trump supporters look like 12 year old conspiracy theorists.

This isnt reddit. People here check this site every single day for the most part. ONE sticky at the top for 15 days is enough. Everything else is fine. Stop trying to be the fun police of this website. The mods are doing an AMAZING job, keep it up! sticky anything u dam well please.

6 I completely disagree. We are always ahead of the news and we don't write articles but when I text out the memes pedes create to the boomers and others that aren't paying attention we are breaking the information chain that MSM has on people. We can need to balance organizing and spreading the message and although times are frustrating we aren't the left and we should never lose our humor.
